

Business Insider ✓

@businessinsider

Suivre

Robots are being used to deter homeless people from setting up camp in San Francisco
read.bi/2jCTKSF

10:52 - 12 déc. 2017

1 856 Retweets 1 937 J'aime

729

1,9 k

1,9 k

GiantsFfan36 @GiantsFfan36 · 12 déc. ✓

En réponse à @businessinsider

It's not the city of SF, it's the SPCA and the city told them to basically knock it off.

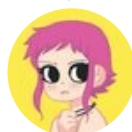

8

23

387

Alexandria @alexandria_nws · 12 déc. ✓

The city literally fines you for giving money or help to homeless people. They might protest but their actions thusfar show that they would rather eradicate the homeless people than house them.

20

88

926

travis porter @portdog40211 · 12 déc. ✓

Why should they house them? I don't get it not the city's job to house people who don't have jobs

70

6

47

