

'The Predator': Shane Black Unveils Hilarious First Footage During Comic-Con

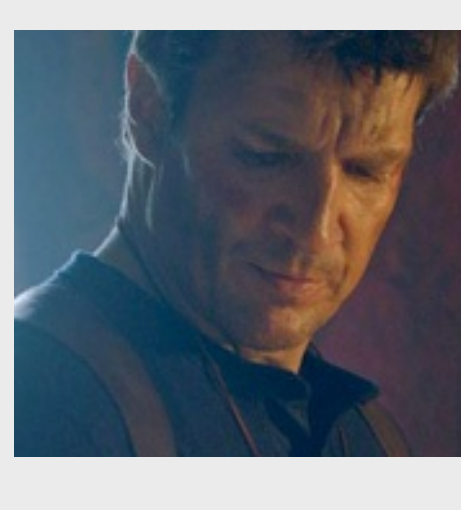

'Star Wars: The Clone Wars' Trailer Announces New Episodes on Disney's Streaming Service

WB Won't Release a "Snyder Cut" of 'Justice League'; Zack Snyder Never Saw the Film

First 'Titans' Trailer Is Laughably Gritty

Nathan Fillion on the 'Uncharted' Fan Film and If He'd Be Game for a 'Firefly'...

Sony Slates New Release Dates for 'Once Upon a Time in Hollywood', 'Zombieland 2', and More

BY MATT GOLDBERG JULY 18, 2018

SHARE TWEET

Sony just jumbled up their calendar a bit. The biggest change is moving Quentin Tarantino's Once Upon a Time in Hollywood back two weeks. The movie was originally set to open on August 9, 2019, which would have marked the 50th anniversary of the Manson murders, which is part of the plot of Tarantino's upcoming film. Since that's kind of gross and tasteless, Sony has wisely decided to sidestep the controversy by opening the movie two weeks earlier on July 26, 2019.

The movie doesn't currently have any direct competition on that date, but it's looking at an incredibly competitive July that will include Spider-Man: Far From Home (although that's just Sony competing with itself), Top Gun: Maverick, and the live-action remake of The Lion King. That being said, it's not like Tarantino's movie will lack for star power. The film's cast includes Leonardo DiCaprio, Brad Pitt, Margot Robbie, Timothy Olyphant, Luke Perry, Damian Lewis, Dakota Fanning, Al Pacino, Emile Hirsch, Clifton Collins Jr., Tim Roth, Michael Madsen, Keith Jefferson, and Nicholas Hammond.

Another big announcement for Sony was slating

Zombieland 2 for October 11, 2019. While we previously reported that the film would open in October 2019, we didn't know exactly when. Zombieland 2, which will reunite stars Jesse

Eisenberg, Emma Stone, Woody Harrelson, and

Abigail Breslin, has some stiff competition on the 11th going up against the animated The Addams Family, the adaptation of Are You Afraid of the Dark?, the drama The Goldfinch, and Disney's Jungle Cruise. It's likely that at least one of these movies will blink and move to a less crowded weekend.

Image via Sony

The recently announced Little Women remake is looking to get into the heart of the 2019 awards season by claiming December 25, 2019. That's a fairly solid spot for a prestige drama, which will likely receive a lot of attention since it's Greta Gerwig's follow up to Lady Bird and it stars Saoirse Ronan, Timothee Chalamet, Emma Stone, Florence Pugh, and Meryl Streep.

Sony is also looking ahead to 2020 and has scheduled the action film Bloodshot for February 21, 2020. The film stars Vin Diesel as a former mob killer who becomes part of a secret experiment to create the ultimate killing machine.

Finally, Sony has moved a couple of its upcoming projects around the schedule. The horror film Slender Man, which has already been punted around the schedule a bit, now moves up two weeks to August 10th. Meanwhile, the cyber-thriller Searching starring John Cho now falls back to August 24th.

PREVIOUS ARTICLE

NEXT ARTICLE

Behold! Sideshow Collectibles Offers An Easier Way To Obtain The Infinity Gauntlet!

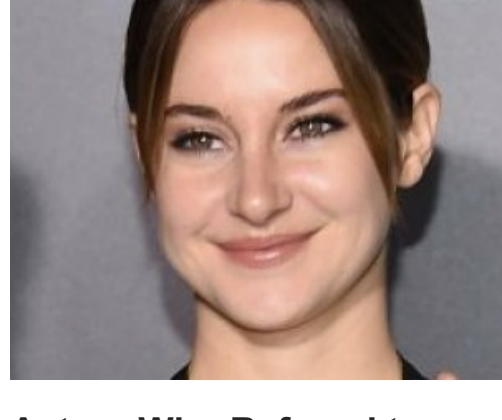

'Joker' Origin Movie Starring Joaquin Phoenix Gets October 2019 Release Date

SHARE TWEET CHAT

TAGS • Bloodshot • Little Women • Once Upon a Time in Hollywood • Quentin Tarantino • Searching • Slender Man • Sony Pictures • Zombieland 2

SHOW COMMENTS

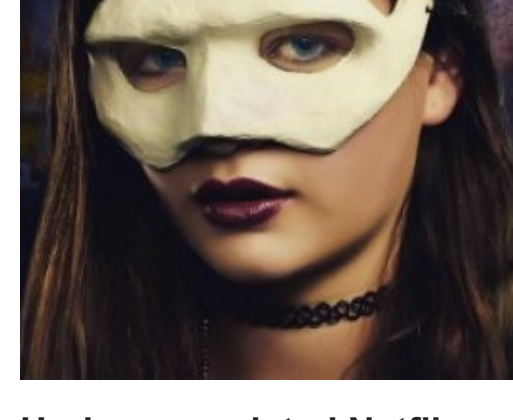

FROM THE WEB Powered by ZergNet

Movies That Were Too Disturbing to Finish

Things Only Adults Notice in 'Thor: Ragnarok'

Offensive Movie Scenes You Never Got To See

Actors Who Refused to Kiss Other Actors On Screen

Characters Killed Off Because of the Actor's Ridiculous Behavior

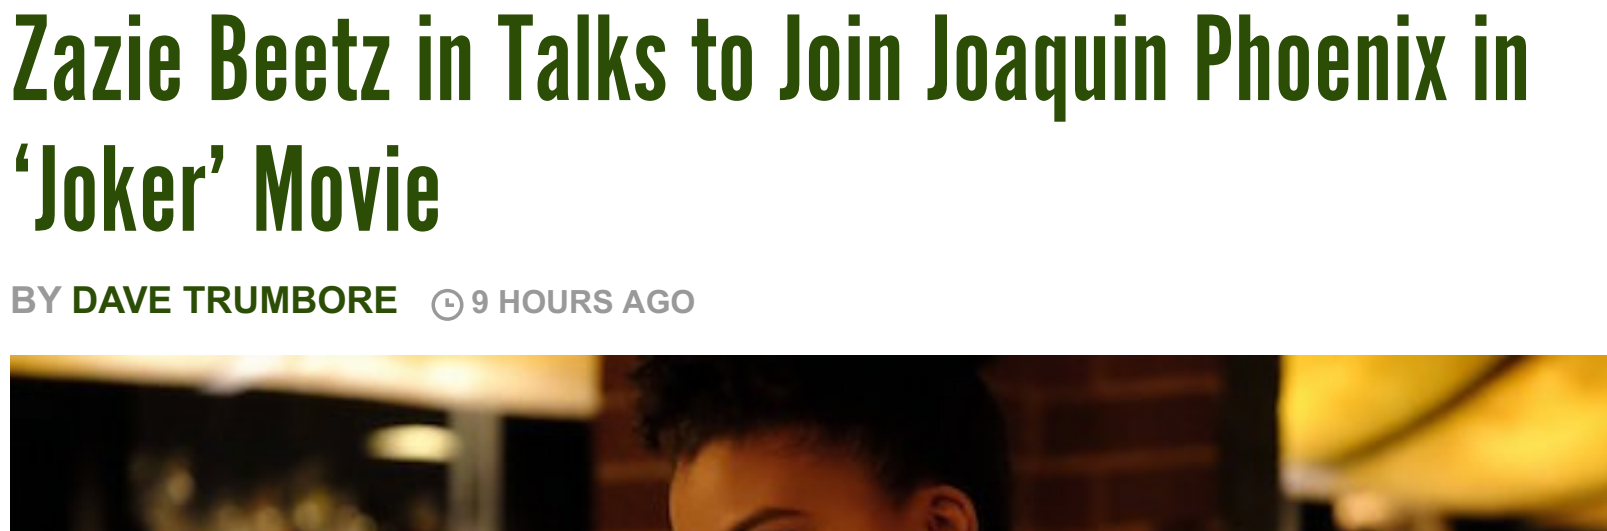

Underappreciated Netflix Gems You Have to Watch Right Now

LATEST NEWS

'Iron Fist' Season 2 Trailer Sees Danny Rand Back in Action

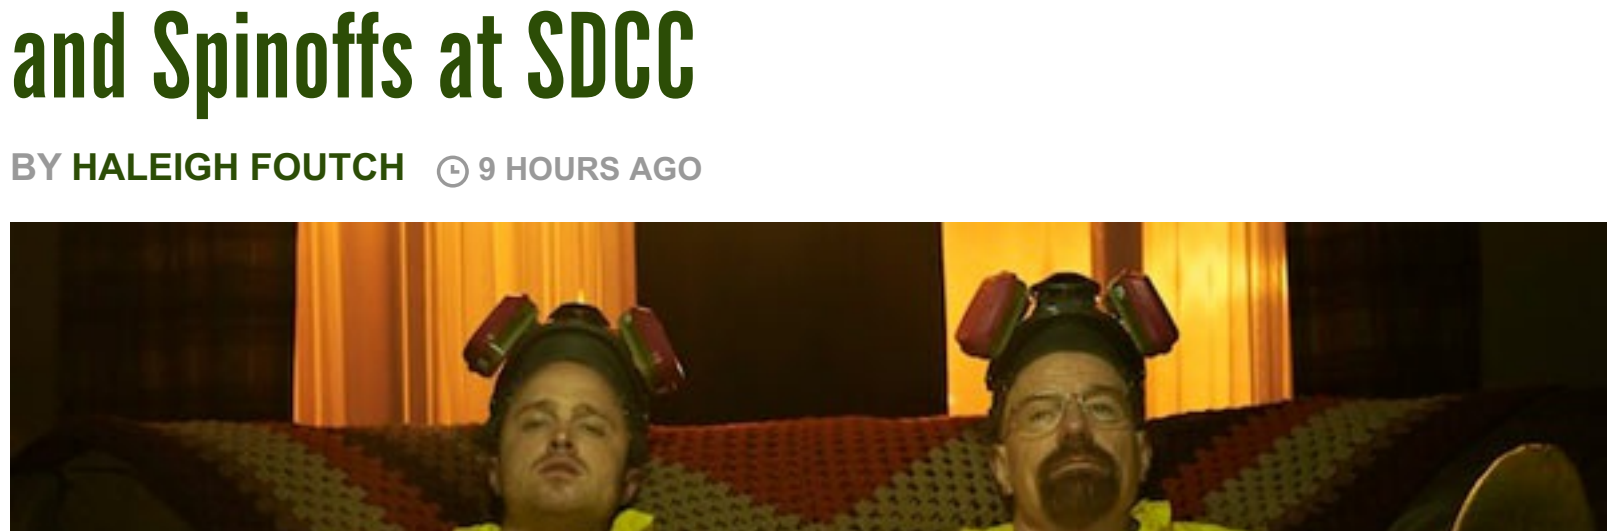

BY ALLISON KEENE 8 HOURS AGO

This fall!

Zazie Beetz in Talks to Join Joaquin Phoenix in 'Joker' Movie

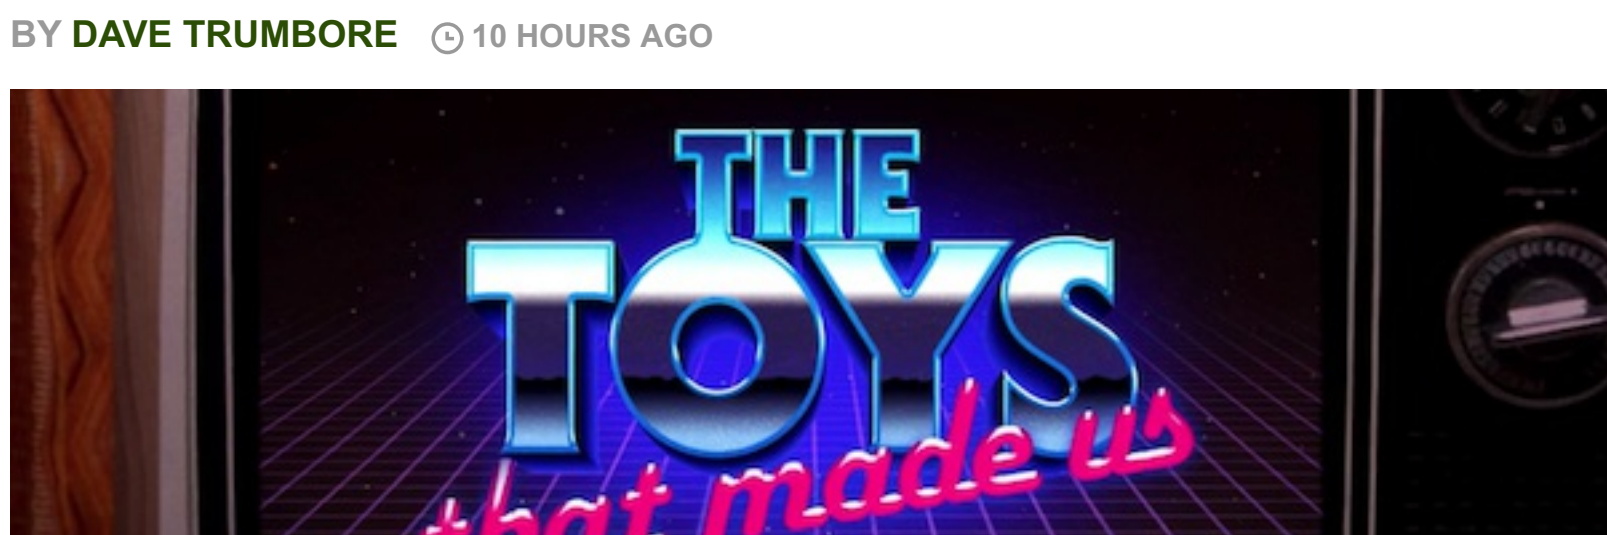

BY DAVE TRUMBORE 9 HOURS AGO

What luck!

The 'Breaking Bad' Cast on Memories, Legacy, and Spinoffs at SDCC

BY HALEIGH FOUTCH 9 HOURS AGO

10 years, bitch!

Netflix's 'Toys That Made Us' Season 3 Will Include 'My Little Pony', 'TMNT' & More

BY DAVE TRUMBORE 10 HOURS AGO

Expect some heroes in a half-shell to make an appearance.

'Better Call Saul' Cast and Creators Tease 'Breaking Bad' Crossovers at SDCC

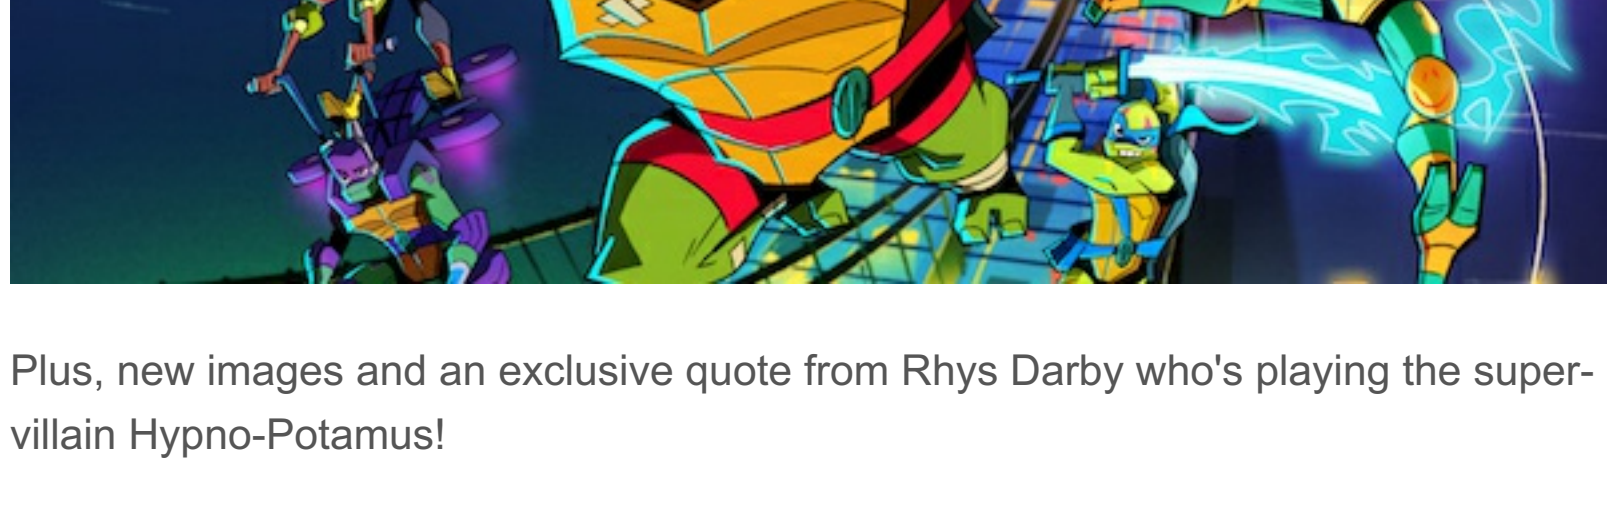

BY HALEIGH FOUTCH 10 HOURS AGO

The 'Saul' squad took the stage in Hall H to hype the upcoming fourth season.

New 'Dragon Ball Super' Movie Trailer Pits Everyone Against Broly

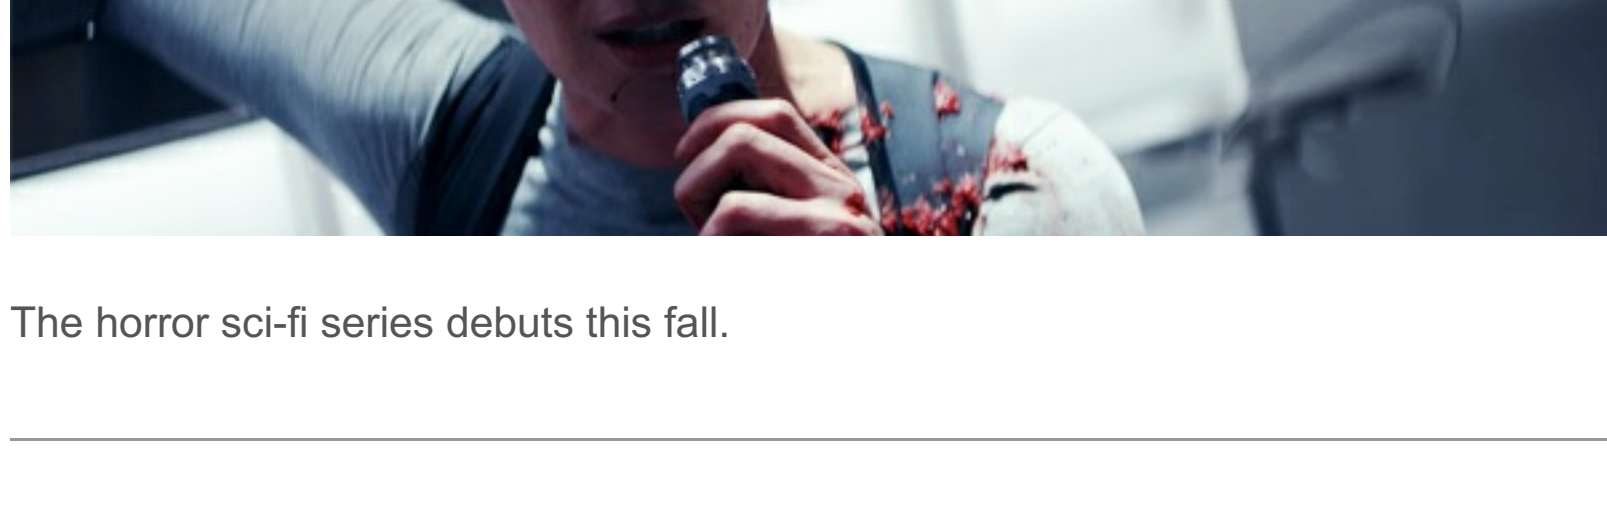

BY DAVE TRUMBORE 11 HOURS AGO

Bring on the Broly!

Nickelodeon's 'Rise of the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles' Unveils an Action-Packed New Trailer

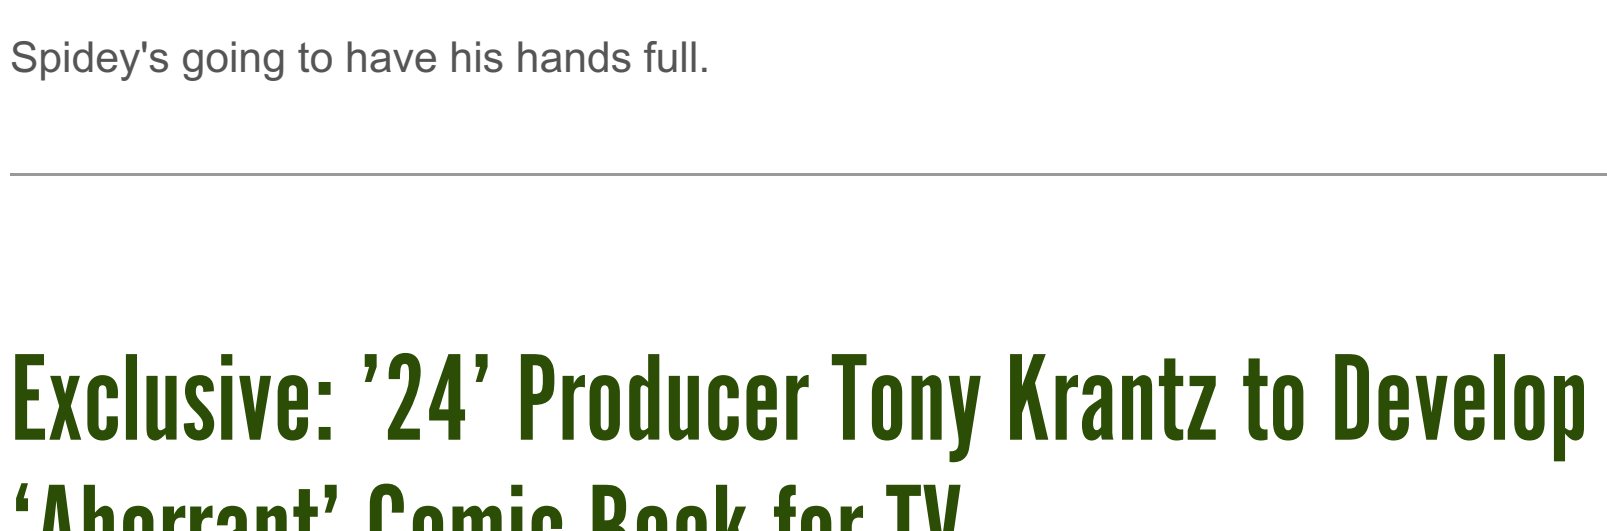

BY DAVE TRUMBORE 12 HOURS AGO

Plus, new images and an exclusive quote from Rhys Darby who's playing the super-villain Hypno-Potamus!

Full-Length 'Nightflyers' Trailer Teases Syfy's George R.R. Martin Adaptation

BY ALLISON KEENE 12 HOURS AGO

The horror sci-fi series debuts this fall.

Sony's 'Spider-Man' PS4 Story Trailer Reveals New Allies and Antagonists

BY DAVE TRUMBORE 12 HOURS AGO

Spidey's going to have his hands full.

Exclusive: '24' Producer Tony Krantz to Develop 'Aberrant' Comic Book for TV

BY JEFF SNEIDER 12 HOURS AGO

Ryland Grant's comic is described as a modern political/conspiracy thriller in the vein of Michael Clayton or Enemy of the State.