It all makes perfect sense when you think about it.

Satan has kind of lost ground as the one to blame for everything. It’s much more popular now to blame globalists. Or there’s always the old traditional scapegoat: in the news recently, Syria shot down a Russian aircraft ... so blame the Jews!

We in the United States have no problem visualizing Satan. He has yellow hair and lives in the White House.

> Satan has kind of lost ground as the one to blame for everything.

Only the stupid people ever thought that. Informed, educated people know that virtually everything is controlled by the Bavarian Illuminati.

PROOF: There are three letters in Donald J. Trump’s initials AND there are three letters in “UFO.”

How much more obvious do they have to make it?

Please ignore the string of characters at the bottom of my previous message. Publishing my standard password for websites so that everyone in the world can see it is my punishment for being too lazy to type it and mapping it to a function key.

Hmm... you know, I wonder if maybe Satan had a hand in that.

Luxi Turner – don’t give us that. We know it’s a code to let THEM know that we’re onto them.

In academic circles, the barmaid’s last point is known as ‘promiscuous teleology’. It’s so nice to be able to accuse the clergy of promiscuity without fear of contradiction.

All nonsense. Conspiracy theories are so popular because they are all true. Everybody knows it, but nobody will admit it except those brave enough to reveal the conspiracies. Everybody tries to maintain the illusion that shit happens and nobody is to blame. Wake up, sheeple. Just look at Sylvester Stallone and tell me he’s NOT an alien.

I still blame Maggie Thatcher for everything.
I have not yet got round to blaming Brexit for everything.
Maybe once I've finished my essay on procrastination.
