Winning with 19 - 0 and having to hear about it via Reddit.
Congratz to the team for the win and for setting a world record.

Behind NL lines

The difference in woman football can be huge. Teams like Armenia would legit lose from a team of 9 year old boys.

The following is total speculation on my part.

While the gap between our women's and our men's funding is enourmous; they're still athletes that receive a reasonable amount of support (although obviously not enough to be fulltime athletes since they still need jobs to support themself).

It's reasonable to assume that Armenia's team is not supported enough to compete at the level they're at. Being a national team means being the best in the nation, but if all teams are equally bad then you're basically pitting the Red Devils against KVC Westerlo.

At some point, i think you just stop caring as a team. "Oh no, they're going going for the goal again. Maybe it's easier if I just turn around and go get ready for the kick-off."

I'm turning in my citizenship and moving back to Armenia, this is just disrespectful 😞
