Quote of the month: "It's not my duty as Mayor to make sure you have a parking spot. For me it's the same as if you bought a cow, or a refrigerator, and then asked me where you're going to put them." Miguel Anxo, Mayor of Pontevedra, Spain.

Just learned more on this mayor: Has been re-elected 4 times since pedestrianising city, air pollution down 61%, no traffic deaths since 2009, 70% move on foot and 12,000 people moved into city centre since car ban.

I was just in Pontevedra a couple weeks ago and I've been telling everyone how amazing it was. Now I see the good leadership is probably part of the reason!

Whereas in Bristol, the mayor couldn't care less if drivers park their vehicles all over the pavements and is totally in thrall to motorists.
