

Log in

Sign up

Bill McKibben ✓
@billmckibben

The heaviest rain ever measured in the history of Seoul, pop 25 million.
This is what happens when you warm a planet

3:33 AM · Aug 9, 2022 · Twitter Web App

3,358 Retweets 280 Quote Tweets 10.6K Likes

Geoff Howe @only_geoffhowe · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben

Blade Runner 2049

1 13

Anton van Walraven @AntonvWalraven · Aug 9

Blade Runner 2022

12

Clem @tinisoli · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben

I'm flying there tomorrow.

6 2

Correcting the Record with Guillotines @SetPixels · Aug 9

Better hope your plane is equipped with pontoons for landing gear

31

I Stand With Scotland @MattRivett7 · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben

I think the term "biblical rains" was defined pre-industrial revolution, no?

2 10

Sir Tony Feratu @Creetchur · 16h

Yeah but these are real ones

6

World Peace @simsdemocracy · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben

Fire DeJoy already; BOTH of them should be in cuffs

1

Frank McGillicuddy says give blood @Frank_McG · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben and @baylawnjay

reminds me of 2012 film Cloud Atlas

4

Scott Thill @morphizm · Aug 9

Replying to @billmckibben

Bill, let's give this kid some dap rather than traffic off his predicament for points.

Anton Hur @AntonHur · Aug 8

.@YonhapNews reporter Park Sang-ryul chilling on top of his Genesis G80 during tonight's flood in Seoul.

Show this thread

1 6

Foglandia @BabiesFree · Aug 9

Wow, was wondering why he looked so calm.

2

