

Anatoly Gerashchenko, scientist and ex-rector of the Moscow Aviation Institute, died after falling down the stairs at the institute

10:13 AM · Sep 21, 2022 · Twitter for iPhone

96 Retweets 71 Quote Tweets 269 Likes

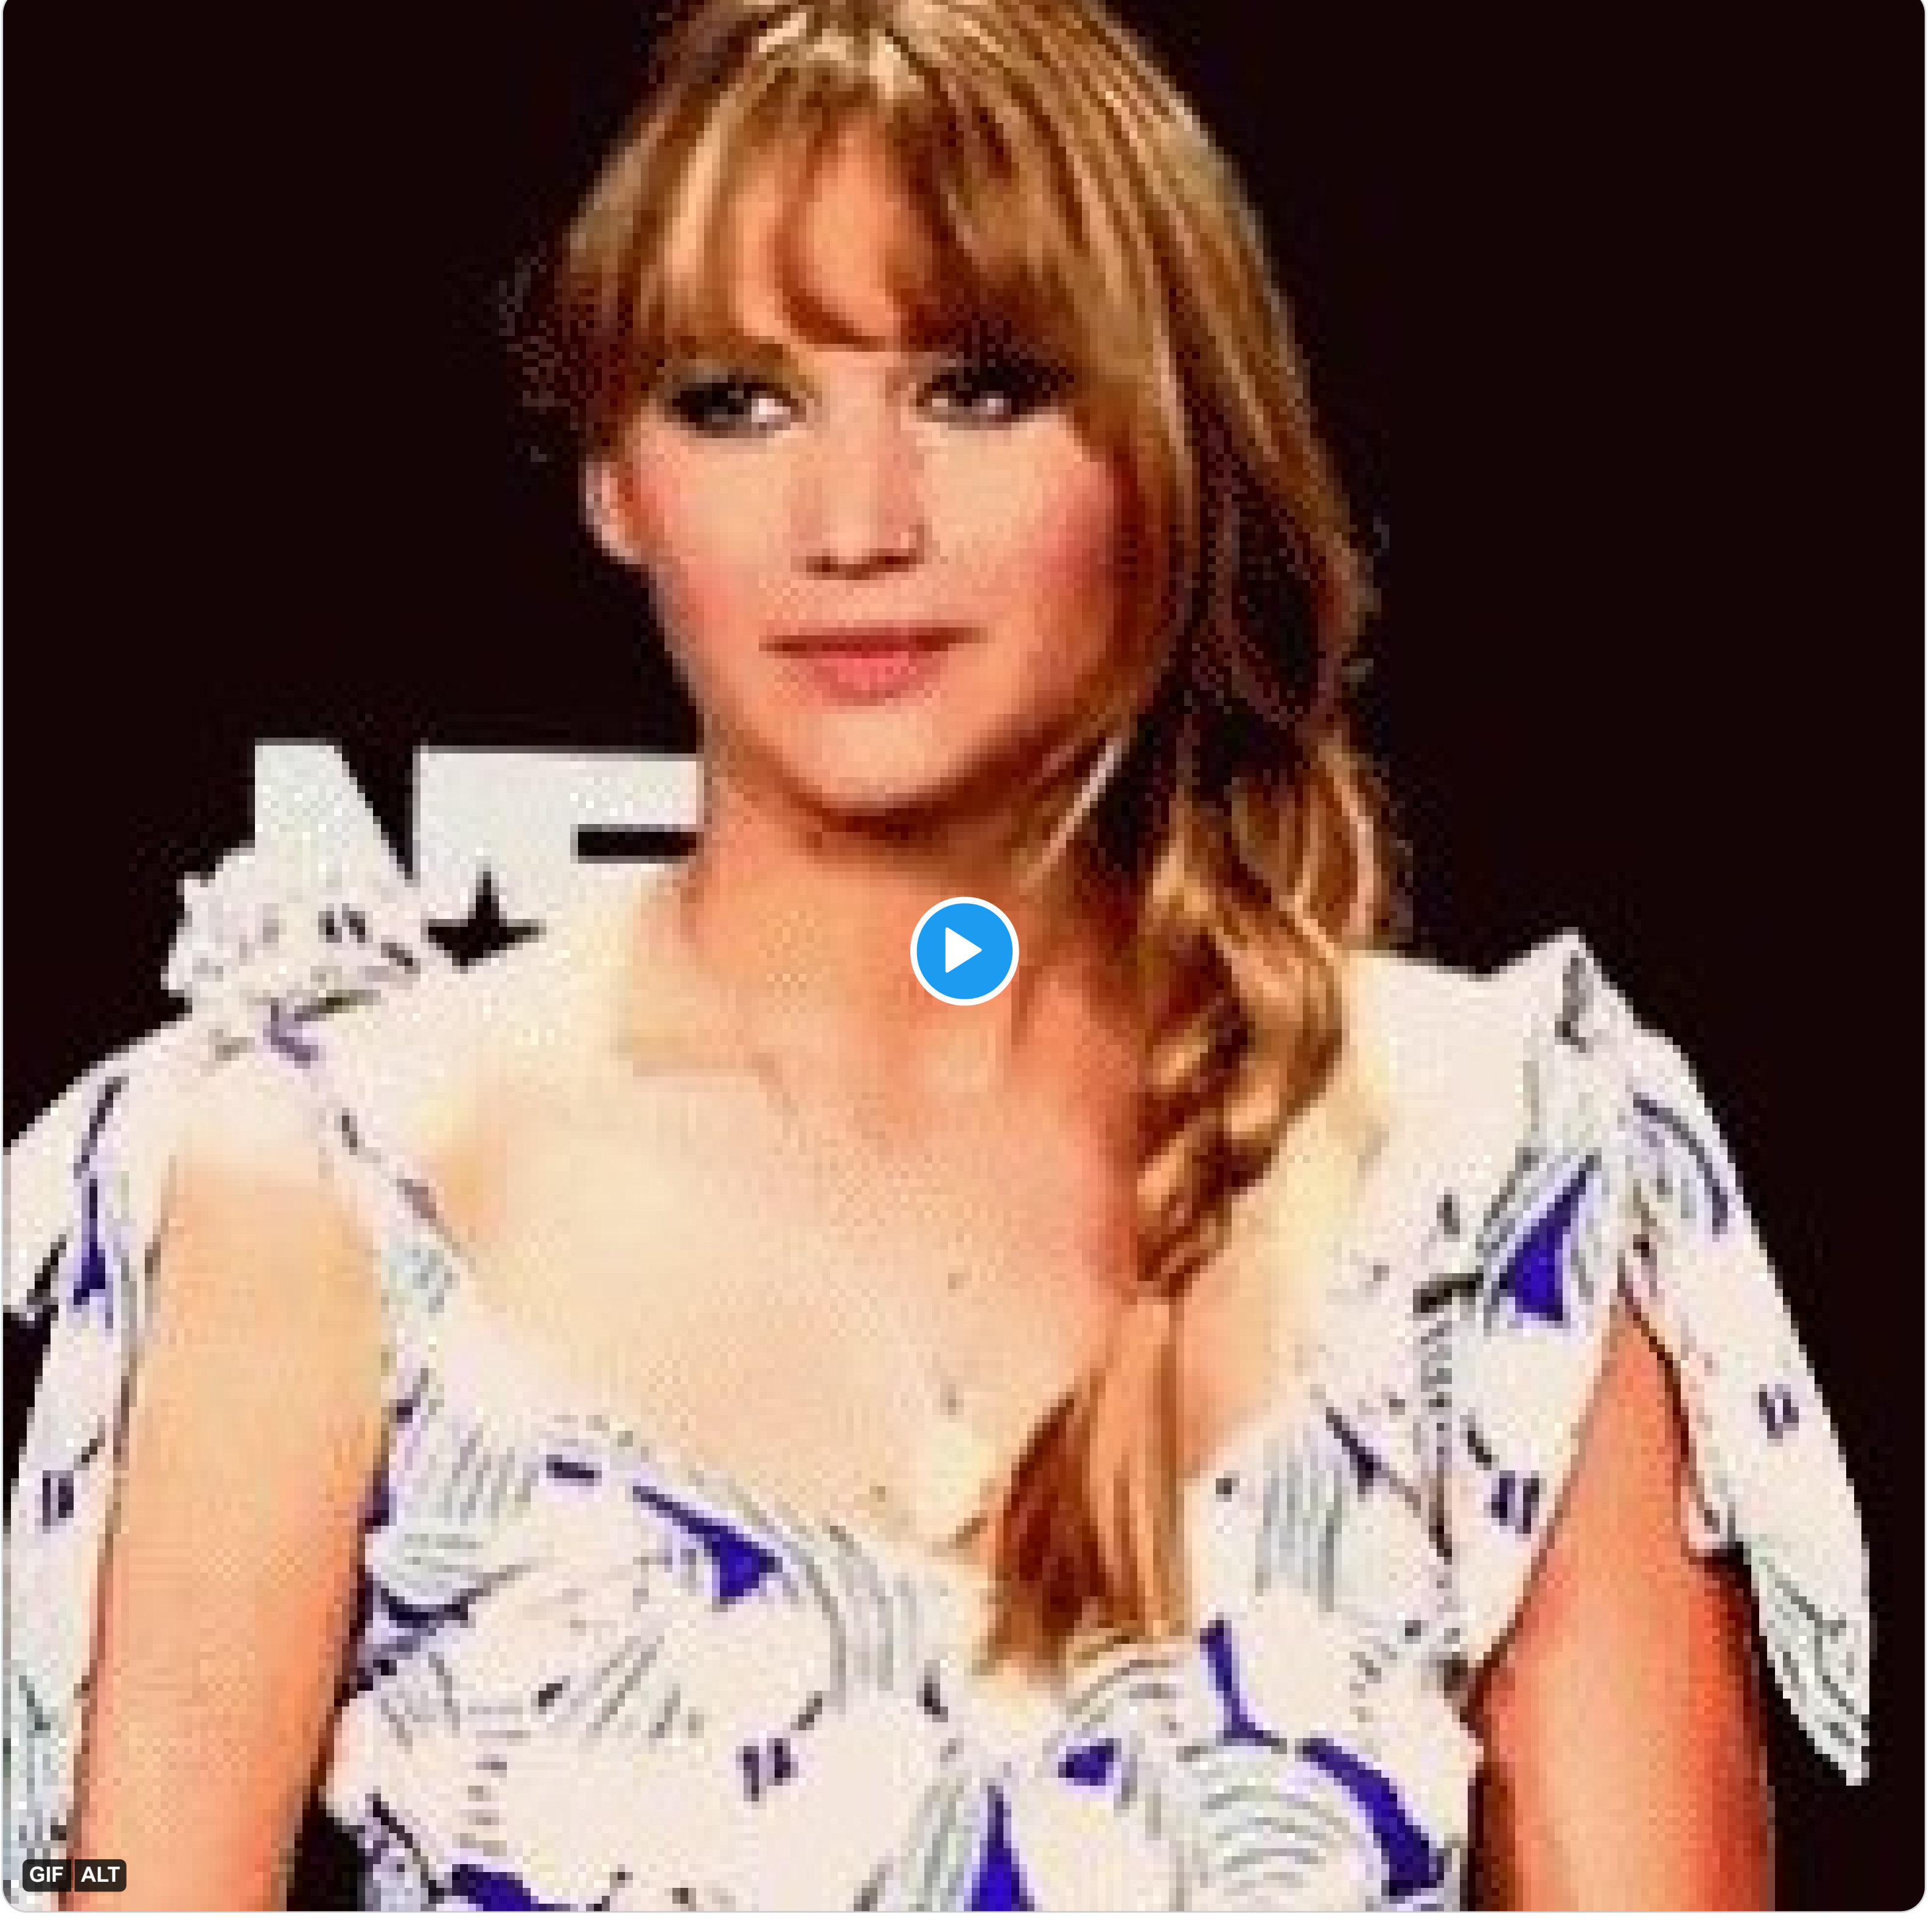

Santtu @SanttuPitkanen · 4h
Replying to @runews

GIF ALT
Reply Retweet Like 1 Share

Thomasecco @Thomasecco · 4h
Replying to @runews

GIF ALT
Reply Retweet Like Share

B @mat_teac · 4h
Replying to @runews
Is Putin not in jail yet for murdering all these people? For the war victims as well. ???
Reply Retweet Like 2 Share

Blue horseshoe Loves..... @horseshoe_loves · 4h
Replying to @runews
When there isn't an open window to fall from, Russians opt for stairs.
Reply Retweet 1 Like 38 Share

Smoczysław @smoczyslavv · 4h
Replying to @runews
Stairs season 2 teaser
Reply Retweet Like 7 Share

Gerard @sillybear2014 · 4h
Replying to @runews
Not a window this time
Reply Retweet Like 4 Share

Temnota vperedi... @4entropy2 · 4h
Replying to @runews
Couldn't find a convenient balcony?
Reply 1 Retweet Like 11 Share

Napoleon Solo. @NapoleonSolo77 · 2h
He was an aviation expert.
Maybe Putler feared he would fly.
Reply 1 Retweet Like 6 Share
Show replies

Zimbru @Zimbru · 4h
Replying to @runews
Apparently, the Institute has no windows.
Reply Retweet 3 Like 51 Share

Fedora Cigar Corp. @FedoraTrading · 4h
Replying to @runews
Russian stairs, windows, and tall buildings posing mass hazard.
Reply Retweet Like 12 Share