Install

sudo snap install sosumi

\(Don't have snapd installed?\)

Remaining tasks

Snapcrafters (join us) are working to land snap install documentation and the snapcraft.yaml upstream so Sosumi can authoritatively publish future releases.

- Click the green "Use this template" button above to create a new repository based on this template
- Give the newly created repository a sensible name, like `godzilla-snap` if you're snapping the Godzilla software
- Update the description of the repository
- Update logos and references to `Sosumi` and `[sosumi]`
- Register the snap in the store, using the preferred upstream name
- Add a screenshot to this `README.md`

- Add install instructions to this `README.md`
- Update snap store metadata, icons and screenshots
- Convert the snap to `strict` confinement, or `classic` confinement if it qualifies
- Publish the confined snap in the Snap store beta channel
- Update the install instructions in this `README.md`
- Post a call for testing on the Snapcraft Forum - link
- Make a post in the Snapcraft Forum asking for a transfer of the snap name from you to snapcrafters - link
- Ask a Snapcrafters admin to fork your repo into github.com/snapcrafters, and configure the repo for automatic publishing into edge on commit
- Add the provided Snapcraft build badge to this `README.md`
- Publish the snap in the Snap store stable channel
- Update the install instructions in this `README.md`
- Post an announcement in the Snapcraft Forum - link
- Submit a pull request or patch upstream that adds snap install documentation - link
- Submit a pull request or patch upstream that adds the `snapcraft.yaml` and any required assets/launchers - link
- Add upstream contact information to the `README.md`
  - If upstream accept the PR:
    - Request upstream create a Snap store account
    - Contact the Snap Advocacy team to request the snap be transferred to upstream
- Ask the Snap Advocacy team to celebrate the snap - link

If you have any questions, post in the Snapcraft forum.
