The Keikka bag is perfect for everyday tasks. Gym going, hiking in the woods, and work trips (suit jacket fits by only folding it once), also it perfectly fits in the overhead lockers on flights. Materials are rugged, and the stitching is spot on.

The only issue is the shoulder strap. Sometimes it slides off your shoulder because the material is pretty slippery with most rain jackets and others, especially when wet. Also, over a long period of carrying, it sometimes eats into the shoulder.

I purchased this back in order to have the most robust carry-on luggage available, along with shoulder straps to have hands free in airports. The internal and external pockets are great and this is by far the most durable bag that I have. I use this when not travelling for sports gear and combine it with Jakkidri S. Well done guys. Excellent gear.

Built like a tank, just how I like it. The 50L is the perfect size, especially if you get the harness, then you have a nice backpack as well.

Absolutely zero stitching issues or qc oversights.

A warm recommendation to anyone wanting high quality gear, you won't regret it.

The keikka 50L is my go-to bag for pretty much anything. It's the perfect size for carry-on baggage, so I use it for all my work trips. I use it at the grocery store a lot too. I get a shopping cart, open the keikka and place it inside, then I can scan the items with a hand scanner in the store and throw them in the bag. Easy peasy. The kahakka backpack harness is a great addition to carry it on your back. Keep in mind this is not a backpack so carrying 20kg with the harness won't be pleasant. b.

perfect companion to the 30L, feels so strong that it somehow seems to make a full bag feel lighter, harness working fine with it too, hitting at the perfect dimensions that were chosen.

The best damn duffel ever made. Works perfectly for weekend trips or longer journeys. Even fits as a carry-on bag for most airlines. Never have to worry about tears, holes, broken zippers or other nuisances due to the reliable Savotta materials. Easy to organise both small items and bigger ones like clothing and such. The backpack harness is a must-have add-on in my opinion, but it's nice that it's sold separately for those that want it.

Get this bag!

I'm using the 30 liter and 50 liter bags for EMS-Gear. The smaller bag for regular shifts and the bigger bag for shifts as incident commander. Both are great. I love the quality and inconspicuous look compared to the bright orange bags my colleagues use.

Excellent for MMA/martial arts training. You can fit in easily heavy duty shin guards, 12oz gloves, + two pairs of grabbing gloves, GI and all basics stuff (ie towel, water bottle, first aid kit. Love it.
