

Continuer sans accepter

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our 227 partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. Politique de Confidentialite

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

I ACCEPT

YOUR PRIVACY CHOICES

EN ▾

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy

---

Your front-row seat

In fashion, as in everything else, tailor-made is always best. GQ France uses technology to adapt its articles to your interests and keep you informed, from the latest Fashion Week trends to the year's hottest Oscar contenders. By giving your consent, you also allow third parties, particularly our trusted partners in the luxury sector, to display ads and content, and the GQ France editorial team to write more articles that match your personal tastes. Think of it as the opportunity to be the first (and have the final say) on all GQ France content.

We, and our partners use cookies and similar methods to recognize visitors and remember their preferences. We may also use these technologies to gauge the effectiveness of advertising campaigns, target advertisements, and analyze website traffic. Some of these technologies are essential for ensuring the proper functioning of the service or website and cannot be disabled, while others are optional but serve to enhance the user experience in various ways. **Politique de Confidentialité**

We, in collaboration with our partners, store and/or access information on a device and process your personal data, such as browsing data and device identifiers, for personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development including by using precise geolocation data, and identification through active device scanning. You have the option to withdraw your consent or manage your preferences at any time by selecting the 'Your Privacy Choices' option located in the website footer. To review or object to instances where our partners assert a legitimate interest in utilizing your data, please visit our vendors page. Your preferences will apply only on this website.

Privacy Policy