Science vs Fiction

In this new episode of Science vs. Fiction, Chief Warrant Officer Marc, a bomb disposal expert at the Munitions and Explosives Hazards Disposal Training Center (Joint Center for the Treatment of Munitions and Explosives Hazards Training Center), discusses the challenges of bomb disposal in a world where the line between science and fiction is increasingly blurred. We explore the latest advancements in bomb disposal technology, the role of bomb disposal experts in modern warfare, and the ethical considerations surrounding the use of force in conflict zones. Join us as we delve into the fascinating world of bomb disposal and uncover the truth behind the myths and legends surrounding this dangerous profession.
