

By JOHN GRUBER

ARCHIVE
THE TALK SHOW
DITHERING
PROJECTS
CONTACT
COLOPHON
FEEDS / SOCIAL
SPONSORSHIP

meh.

Fuck Amazon

MACOS 26'S CUT CORNERS

Here's an illustrated follow-up regarding the absurdity of MacOS 26's "looks like they're rounded off like a child's toy but actually they're still rectangles with corners" windows. If you turn on always-visible scrollbars (which you should) and scroll to the bottom, they look like this:

(That's Safari, which I think is a somewhat popular app.)

It would make more sense if we found out that the team behind redesigning the UI for MacOS 26 Tahoe was hired by Meta a year ago and deliberately sabotaged their work to make the Mac look clownish and amateur.

★ Monday, 12 January 2026

Display Preferences