VISION

A thriving open social web for Europe.

MISSION

Euroskey exists because Europe needs technological sovereignty and democratic resilience in its digital infrastructure.

We build and maintain shared infrastructure on open protocols that enables European entrepreneurs to launch social applications faster and more affordably. We work collaboratively and transparently, guided by principles of interoperability, user control, and democratic values.

We serve European startups, media organizations, civic institutions, and anyone building applications that put users first. Together, we're creating an ecosystem where multiple companies can compete and thrive — with European values embedded from the start.
