 Combining French snobbery with Linux snobbery could set off some kind of chain reaction.

How soon until Quebec joins the Bloc de L'nux?

 partofthevoice@lemmy.zip English · 1 · 12 minutes ago
 You think there might be a self-sustaining snobbery fission chain reaction?

 They won't go back. once you start getting used to having logic that responds to your commands it really is hard to give that up to ai slop.

 Meanwhile in the UK our government is strengthening ties to palintir. We always have to be the losers of Europe

 Krzd@lemmy.world English · 17 · 5 hours ago
 Eh, Germany is currently doing the same, so we're both losing

 Electricd@lemmybefree.net English · 7 · 5 hours ago
 Afaik France still has contracts with Palantir

 locahosr443@lemmy.world English · 4 ↓ 1 · 4 hours ago
 No doubt, but this is a step in the right direction. If it works it proves the value of further breaking away from the US. While we still buy whatever they're selling, and provide support loading their bombs for their wars.
