Released to compete with the Atari 2600, the Intellivision challenged Atari's dominance in living rooms and created a rivalry that became known as the First Console War. Intellivision offered players more realistic sports and strategy games, richer graphics, and unique, multi-input controllers.

For its 45th anniversary, the Intellivision Sprint brings 45 of the system's best games back to living rooms – now upgraded with HDMI and wireless controllers. Play Boulder Dash in its first official Intellivision release, along with classic favorites Baseball, Shark! Shark!, Astrosmash, and more. Each game comes with new overlays that map the game's specific controls.

DESCRIPTION

THE FIRST INTELLIVISION, BROUGHT TO YOU BY ATARI: Well known as rivals in the 1980s, Atari and Intellivision have come together to bring you a modernized version of the classic console.

45 BUILT-IN GAMES: Plug in and start playing. Features some of the best games made for the system, including Boulder Dash, Shark! Shark!, Baseball, Astrosmash, and more!

EASY TO CONNECT: Play on modern TVs and monitors with HDMI output.

2 WIRELESS CONTROLLERS: The Intellivision disc controllers have been updated to be wireless and rechargeable. Simply dock the controllers into the console to store and recharge.

OVERLAYS FOR ALL GAMES: Overlays for every game, each with new designs. Includes 2 overlays for each game, overlays are single-sided.

USB-A port can connect original Intellivision II and II controllers (with adapter). Can also be used to play additional games (sold separately).
