

Akabira, Hokkaido

A Japanese Super Cheap $64K Castle, in Really Good Condition is Being Sell in Japan ! 🏰

Ever dreamed of owning your own Japanese castle? In Hokkaido, this striking 6-story concrete and steel castle (built in 1991) is still for sale, I posted this property a while ago and with the weaker yen, it's now even more attractive. While it's a modern imitation rather than a feudal original, that means solid structure and relatively recent construction.

Set on 5,045m<sup>2</sup> of flat land with beautiful southern exposure, the property includes around 40 parking spaces, a restaurant on the second floor, and even a working elevator serving all six levels. You're just 150 meters from a Lawson, a short drive to Furano ski resort, and well connected to airports and trains to Sapporo. Utilities are already connected, and the large garden opens endless possibilities, private residence, boutique hotel, or unique event venue.
